

Perhaps the FCC should change the Federal "Do Not Call" law to be more like New Jersey's. Telemarketers have absolutely no scruples and call during all hours. They never stop no matter how many times you tell them to. They sell your info to other telemarketers so the calls keep on coming. Thanks to NJ's law, my house has been much quieter and the annoying calls have stopped. Leave our law alone and change the Federal one. People have a right not to be bothered with these calls.
